Harvard University’s
SCHOOL’S OUT PROGRAM
April 18-22, 2016

Theme: Global Travelers Week

Daily Schedule

Monday: G’day Mate! We are starting the week by exploring the Australian Outback. Children will create art inspired by intricate Aboriginal dot painting techniques! Then we work together to make our very own didgeridoos.

Tuesday: Next stop, Mexico! We taste the culture by making salsa and guacamole. Next, children try their hand at papel picado, traditional Mexican folk art paper cutting!

Wednesday: No time for jet lag, today we are in Egypt! Children will write secret messages in hieroglyphics. We also learn the engineering in building pyramids using sugar cubes.

Thursday: Costa Rica! Inside the rainforest, we learn about the water cycle to make a terrarium in a bottle! Then it’s off to design and decorate our class oxcart using recyclable materials.

Friday: Before saying Sayonara, we spend time in Japan! Children learn the story behind koinobori, Japanese flying carp before creating their very own. What can you cut your fruit into? Using our (plastic) knife skills, we turn our afternoon snack into works of art.

Additional Activities
In addition to the planned group activities, children will also have opportunities to play games, make new friends, and explore a variety of fun curriculum. We will be hosting an extra-curricular guest for a gross-motor activity to get us moving no matter what the weather is outside!

Registration & Reservations
All benefits-eligible faculty/staff are invited to enroll their school-age children in the School’s Out Program. Reservations are required and open on March 14, 2016
