Tuition Assistance Plan

Harvard's Tuition Assistance Plan (TAP) helps pay the cost of tuition for courses taken at participating Harvard Schools.

You can use TAP to explore an academic field or pursue an academic degree.

TAP is available to eligible Harvard staff including professional & administrative, support, hourly, and faculty. Please refer to page 3 for eligibility requirements.

Before enrolling in a course, it is important to familiarize yourself with the TAP guidelines found in this booklet.

If after reviewing this booklet you have additional questions, you can contact Benefits at (617) 496-4001 or benefits@harvard.edu.

Tuition Reimbursement Plan

Harvard's Tuition Reimbursement Plan (TRP) helps pay the cost of tuition for qualifying courses taken at other accredited* institutions. Reimbursement is for tuition only. You cannot be reimbursed for any fees associated with the course.

TRP is available to eligible Harvard staff including professional & administrative, support, hourly and faculty. Please refer to page 3 for eligibility requirements.

Before enrolling in a course, it is important to familiarize yourself with the TRP guidelines found in this booklet.

If after reviewing this booklet you have additional questions, you can contact Benefits at (617) 496-4001 or benefits@harvard.edu.

Although all possible care has been taken in the preparation of this text, any errors or inconsistencies are not binding. Interpretation of the rules and policies of TAP and TRP are subject to the discretion of the Plan Administrator. The Tuition Assistance Plan and Tuition Reimbursement Plan are subject to change without notice.

*Please refer to the U.S. Department of Education website for a listing of accredited institutions -<http://ope.ed.gov/accreditation/search.aspx>

Employee Eligibility

In order to be eligible for TAP and TRP, you must be active in a paid benefits-eligible position on Harvard's regular payroll; in an eligible employee classification; and must have the minimum required hours per week listed in PeopleSoft. If you are in a union, eligibility is also based on your collective bargaining agreement.

Extended Part-Time employees (EPEs) are eligible for TAP if they have worked a minimum of 360 hours in a 9-month period in the previous fiscal year (July 1 through June 30) and are active Harvard employees. Labor and Employee Relations will notify you annually if you are eligible for EPE benefits, including TAP. EPEs are not eligible for TRP.

Full Time Students Employees who are covered under HUCTW are eligible to use TAP and TRP while enrolled as a full-time student in a degree program. Please note, not all Harvard Schools confer degrees to students using TAP, nor allow full-time students to use TAP. Please refer to Harvard Schools Participating in TAP (starting on page 11) for more information. Employees who are not covered under HUCTW cannot use TAP or TRP while enrolled as a full-time student in a degree program except at Harvard Extension School.

Limited Regulars are eligible for TAP only.

Paid leave of absence Employees on a paid leave of absence must have the required hours, pay and employee classification in PeopleSoft in order to be eligible for the benefit.

Retirees (defined as those who were at least age 55 with 10 years of participation service at the time of separation from the University) are eligible for TAP only.

Enrollment Periods and Counting Your Credit Limit

The Tuition Plan year is based on the calendar year (January to December). You are entitled to reimbursement for up to three distinct enrollment periods per calendar year, whether your school is on a semester or quarter system. Your credit limit (course limit for Harvard Extension School) is available to you for up to three semesters or quarters in which you enroll in courses, per calendar year.

If you are taking non-Harvard courses on a quarter system and you do not reach your per quarter credit limit, you cannot transfer any unused credits to a fourth quarter.

To determine when you have reached your credit limit (or course limit for Harvard Extension School) for any given semester or quarter, you must count credits for that particular enrollment period based on the start date of the course(s), not the end date of the course(s).

If you attend a school on a quarter system, you are eligible to enroll in courses up to your credit limit per quarter for three quarters of the calendar year. You must count credits for that particular enrollment period based on the start date of the course(s), not the end date of the course(s).

Course Start Date	Semester
September through December	Included in credit limit for Fall Semester
January through April	Included in credit limit for Spring Semester
May through August	Included in credit limit for Summer Semester

Doctoral Fees

Job-related* doctoral dissertation fees are covered under the Tuition Plans for up to three semesters. The semesters need not be taken consecutively, but academic work must be completed within a three-year period from the initial semester you are charged fees.

*Not required to be job-related for employees covered under HUCTW

Additional Information

Taxes & TRP

You should not owe taxes on Non-Harvard courses because the reimbursement limit for Non-Harvard courses is $5,250 per calendar year. Therefore, the subsidized portion of the course cost (75% of the cost of the course or 90% if you are HUCTW staff) cannot exceed the taxable threshold of $5,250

Taxes & TAP

If your TAP benefit for undergraduate or graduate courses at Harvard exceeds $5,250 in a calendar year, you will owe Federal and State taxes on that excess amount.

Any taxes you owe for a given calendar year are paid at the time you file your income tax return.

The University will send you an IRS Form 1098-T. This form is a receipt for what you paid directly and for what was paid indirectly on your behalf.

If what was paid indirectly on your behalf by TAP is above the $5,250 threshold, you will owe taxes on that amount when you file your return.

The benefit is the actual dollar cost paid on your behalf to subsidize the total cost of courses. This does not include what you have paid.
