BRIDGE PROGRAM: CITIZENSHIP

The Harvard Bridge Program, in collaboration with the Harvard Kennedy School's Institute of Politics, offers one-on-one tutoring for anyone interested in studying to become a U.S. citizen. Participants and tutors meet for at least one hour a week to review the material needed to pass the interview process. Tutors are available on campus before and after work hours. Contact the Bridge Program for more information.

The components of the test:

Civics: During the interview, you will be asked 10 questions from a list of 100 questions. You must answer at least 6 of the 10 questions correctly to pass the civics portion.

Speaking: The speaking portion of the test consists of questions about the N-400 application form you submitted to USCIS.

Reading: Applicants will be given up to three chances to correctly read a sentence in English.

Writing: Applicants will be given up to three chances to correctly write a sentence dictated by the officer in English.
