WHAT HAPPENS
To your Harvard University Medical Coverage

WHEN...you, your spouse, or your domestic partner turn age 65?

If you are actively working and enrolled in a Harvard University Medical Plan

When YOU, the employee, turn 65

- You, your spouse, and dependent children remain eligible for the same active plans.
- You may defer enrollment in Medicare Parts A, B, & D until you retire, end employment with the University, cancel or become ineligible for Harvard’s medical coverage.

When YOUR SPOUSE turns 65

- If you are covering your spouse on your Harvard-sponsored medical coverage, your spouse remains eligible for the same active plans.
- They may defer enrollment in Medicare Parts A, B, & D until you retire, end employment with the University, cancel or become ineligible for Harvard’s coverage.

When YOUR REGISTERED DOMESTIC PARTNER turns 65

- If you are covering your domestic partner on your Harvard-sponsored medical coverage, they must enroll in Medicare Parts A & B during their initial enrollment period. * They should begin the process 3-4 months prior to their 65th birthday. They can defer their Medicare Part D enrollment while they are enrolled in a Harvard-sponsored group health plan.
- Medicare will be their primary plan. This means the Harvard plan will pay for eligible expenses (minus applicable deductible, coinsurance, and copayments) after Medicare has paid its share. If they do not enroll in Medicare, the Harvard-sponsored plan will not pay any medical claims.

*If they do not enroll during their initial Medicare enrollment period, they may be assessed a late enrollment penalty when they enroll at a later date.

If you are retired from Harvard and eligible for Harvard’s retiree health coverage

- In order to remain eligible for Harvard’s retiree medical coverage, you (or your eligible dependent turning 65) must enroll in Medicare Parts A & B. Medicare will become your primary insurance.
- You (or your eligible dependent turning 65) will receive an enrollment packet from the University approximately four months before your Medicare eligibility date (1st of the month you turn 65). It will include information on the University’s senior medical plan options, including monthly premiums and enrollment forms.
- Medicare D prescription coverage is included with your Harvard-sponsored senior medical plan. Do not enroll in a separate Medicare D plan or your Harvard-sponsored medical plan will be cancelled.
- If you are covering any dependents under age 65, they will continue to be eligible for the under 65 medical plans.

* Medicare Part A is premium-free for those who paid into Social Security for a minimum of 40 quarters
† Medicare Advantage (Part C) program provides an alternative way to receive Medicare Part A & B coverage along with prescription drug so all your Medicare benefits are in one policy not in A, B and D, as they are for Medicare supplemental plans.
‡ If you meet eligibility and enroll in a senior medical through Harvard, Medicare Part D coverage is included.
§ In order to enroll in a senior medical plan through Harvard, you must meet post retirement health eligibility and then complete the enrollment process and provide proof of enrollment in Medicare Parts A & B within 30 days of the effective date of the event. Therefore, every effort should be made to complete the process prior to your retirement if you are age 65 or older.
