

Harvard University Campus Formal Lactation Room List: Buildings with Resident Lactation Rooms

The following building list is arranged by campus and then by school or unit. This is for ease of navigation and identification only as all registered users can use any of these formal lactation rooms. Note that additional card access credentials are needed across the three campuses – please email. The interactive Lactation Room Campus Map indicates which buildings have resident lactation rooms. Register via HARVie; Contact: Office of Work/Life.

Campus:

Allston

Cambridge

Longwood

Satellite locations

Most buildings listed below have one room although a few have two or more individual rooms or spaces within the room, and this is shown in the last column. Greyed listings indicate buildings are under renovation and rooms are currently unavailable.

Remember that users must register with the Office of Work/Life to be given access to the lactation room system which includes the ability to reserve and see the availability of rooms using RoomBook. Registration also includes HUID clearance for getting into the building, to the specific floor, and then to the room even if a door card reader isn't installed for the lactation room. Specific room details and exact locations are found in the private RoomBook reservation platform. Some rooms have door pinlocks and when reserved, the email confirmation contains the pincode. NOTE: All Harvard Business School lactation rooms are drop-in only but require HUID card tap access.
